EXPERIENCE

Assistant Teacher at SoyHenry Bootcamp

ene 2023 - mar 2023

Soy Henry, Argentina

The Assistant Teacher role at Soy Henry Bootcamp is a leadership position, responsible for guiding and supporting a group of approximately 27 new IT students throughout their training journey. As the primary point of contact for this cohort, the Assistant Instructor will play a key role in ensuring a successful and enjoyable learning experience for each student.

The Assistant Teacher will work closely with the main instructor to deliver comprehensive and effective training, combining classroom instruction with hands-on projects and individual mentoring. They will also be responsible for monitoring the progress of each student, providing guidance and support as needed, and addressing any challenges that may arise during the program.

In addition to teaching and mentoring, the Assistant Instructor will also be responsible for facilitating group activities and building a strong sense of community among the students. They will have excellent communication and interpersonal skills, a deep understanding of the technologies being taught, and a passion for helping others learn and succeed.

This is an exciting opportunity for a Full Stack Developer with experience in HTML, CSS modules, JavaScript structure, forms, databases, React, MongoDB, and Next.js to take their career to the next level. If you are a motivated and passionate individual with a strong commitment to education and technology, we would love to hear from you.
